13 Coeds in Miss Tacoma Pageant

Thirteen coeds will represent CPS in the Miss Tacoma Pageant March 19 and 20 at the Tacoma USO auditorium.

The 13 coeds are Kathryn Boling, Claudi Cole, Judy Daniell, Madeline Hansen, Kristine Havel, Maija Ievins, Jackie Johnson, Fran Macdonald, Carolyn Milne, Judy Olsen, Carol Sandford, Jo Ann Sartz, and Marsha Smith.

All 13 lovelies will appear on KTVW, Channel 13, throughout the week. Judy Daniell and Madeline Hansen appeared last night. Claudia Cole will be making appearances this afternoon between 2 and 3:30. Jackie Johnson will be on today from 4:30 till 5.

Jo Ann Sartz will appear between 5:30 and 6:00 today. Marsha Smith will be on from 6:15 till 6:30.

Carolyn Milne will be on from 6:45 till 7:00 and Kathryn Boling will appear at 7:30 tonight.

Kristine Havel, Judy Olsen, and Fran Macdonald will all appear on Channel 13 tomorrow. Miss Havel will be on from 2 till 3:30 in the afternoon, Miss Olsen from 4:30 till 5, and Miss Macdonald from 6:45 till 7.

Carol Sandford will appear on Thursday from 2 till 3:30 p.m. Maija Ievins will be on television Thursday from 6:15 till 6:30.

The candidates appeared at the wrestling matches at the Tacoma armory last Friday night. They will open the Home Show at the CPS Memorial Fieldhouse, Tuesday, March 17. A luncheon is also planned for the girls sometime this week.

KNIGHTS TAP 20

The Intercollegiate Knights, sophomore men's honorary, tapped 20 freshmen two weeks ago in Convocation.

"Each man will serve as a page until May, when they all will be initiated into the organization to serve as next year's Intercollegiate Knights," Randy Smith, Duke of Knights, said.

POLITICAL PRIMARIES PULL PEOPLE TO POLLS

The polls opened at nine a.m. this morning to allow voters to choose among 42 candidates running for 10 student body offices and May Queen.

A light voting turnout is expected as most of the heavy voting is usually not done until the final election.

The polls will remain open until 5 p.m. today and tomorrow for the primary elections. Final elections will be held Thursday and Friday, March 12-13. The polls will also be open from 9 till 5 on those days.

Candidates vying for ASCPS presidential offices are Mel Henry, Duane Parker, Randy Smith, and Dick Waterman. The person assisting the president in next year's duties as First Vice President will be selected from a field consisting of Tom Beardemphl, Howie Eastman and Peter Rippe.

Candidates for 2nd Vice President are Chuck Comeau, Fred Deal, and Ken McGill. The executive secretary position will be filled by either Jackie Carmichael or Carol Weeks.

Vying for senior representative to Central Board are Murray Johnstone, Lorna Moen, and Susie Sprenger. Running for Junior Representative are Bob Degman, Chris Hager, Pam Lonseth, Lorna Royall, and Phyllis Walker. Competing for Sophomore Representative are Jim Beecher, Nancy Dow, Gregory Hawkins, Jackie Johnson, Joan Pentilla, Gail Pokela, Dave Purchase, and David H. Smith.

Three people will be elected as delegates at large. Those running for the three positions are: John (J. C.) Burdick, Barb Keevil, Larry Gill, Elaine Klein, Larry Hegerness, Fred Langton, John Mason, Dan McDonough, Stu McKenzie, and Chuck Pyle.

The May Queen will also be chosen during the general elections. Candidates for the position are Marlene Buck, Jean Dix, Nancy Eliason, Lois Hagmann, and Linda Sticklin.

Macdonald Region One IK Queen

A CPS coed, Fran Macdonald, was selected from a field of six women representing schools in Washington and Oregon as Queen of Region I of Intercollegiate Knights. The crowning took place Saturday night, Feb. 28, at Olympic Junior College in Bremerton, Wash.

Miss Macdonald will travel to Billings, Mont., April 23-25 to compete for National Queen of Intercollegiate Knights. She will be competing against five other women from regional areas throughout the Western United States.

The Knights do not have organizations in colleges in the eastern section of the United States. Their organizations extend only as far east as the Mississippi river.

Other colleges competing in the Region I event besides CPS were Lewis & Clark, Linfield, Seattle University, Olympic Junior College, and Pacific University.

The national competition will be run similar to the Miss America contest. The contestants will be judged in three sections, swimming suits, evening gowns, and talent. Afterwards they will each be asked five questions, to help determine the winner.

Presidential Candidates State Views

MEL HENRY

The essence of government in any democratic form is the unification and coordination of the activities of individuals. A system of world, national, or student government is only as great as the individuals which comprise that system. Successful government, then, does not mean conformity, but dynamic individualism. John Stuart Mill expressed it as two main constituents of "grand nationality." First, a large variety of character; and second, full play for human nature to expand itself in numberless and conflicting directions. My program, therefore, is based on the unity of students as individuals.

A successful student government must function for the benefit of every student. With the competition of the new student center the ASCPS can serve all students by sponsoring mixers, inter-dorm firesides, and weekend movies. These will provide an excellent opportunity for closer relations between Greek and Independent students.

If college education is to truly prepare us for life, we must be aware of the political and cultural environment of which we are a part. This can be accomplished by an ASCPS Artist and Lecture series that is vital and stimulating. One that presents key speakers on key issues, and provides the highest level of cultural entertainment.

We, as college students, realize that college must be more than mere preparation for life and vocation, "but life and vocation itself, meaningful and whole." If I am elected your ASCPS President, I will consider it vocation itself, attempting to make it meaningful and whole to you, the students of CPS.

DUANE PARKER

My decision to run for Student Body President was based on my feeling that something is lacking on our campus. After searching into this problem I have come to the conclusion that the lack of school spirit and school pride stem from our lack of cohesiveness. I believe for a better student body, we need a feeling of mutual support with more interest in the activities in which our students partake.

Our new Student Union Building is going to give us a shot in the arm. I am in favor of the establishment of a Student Union Committee which will work with the administration in determining policies regarding the use of this structure. Another function of this committee would be to work with individual groups on our campus. It would give them a place to share their problems. The main objective would be to develop interest in these groups so that cooperation could be gained in solving their problems. The key idea behind this committee and my platform is that together we can grow, divided we will falter.

I also favor the revival of the past tradition of the Color Post. This tradition was used to integrate and welcome incoming Freshmen into our college program. It symbolized to graduating seniors that they were leaving our college environment to take their place in the outside world. This tradition would help us build our feeling of a unified student body.

Dr. Cyrus Albertson presented, in Convocation, three basic traits of a good leader: 1. He has interest in others; 2. He puts himself last; 3. He does the best that he can. Let us use these guideposts in selecting our new student body officers.

RANDY SMITH

To keep pace with the expanding facilities and growing student body the advisability of enlarged student activities presents itself. It is now necessary for greater student participation and interest to just maintain the degree of success of a few years ago. The Alumni, an integral part of Homecoming, are becoming a larger body each year. Here the students can expand their programs and work with the school administration to bring about more Alumni participation and a better Alumni program at Homecoming.

Spring Carnival stands as a similar problem. To insure the interested attendance of high school seniors at that time a larger cooperation between the administration and interested students can be initiated to make such a visit a more favorable and impressive experience for the high school students.

Similarly, the new students center offers a wonderful opportunity for increased student participation in school affairs. Certainly we can share in the operation of the building, toward which we are paying $14,000 a year, to insure its best possible use.

To initiate these programs a strong Central Board is needed. Such a board must introduce the mentioned progress and then find the students who are interested in carrying them out. If it is necessary to advertise and "push" to find these people, then this is one of primary tasks of the student government. I ask for the opportunity to carry out these measures.

NO CLASS

Thursday classes after 5:30 p.m. and Friday classes after 10 a.m. have been cancelled due to the debate tourney.

DICK WATERMAN

The College of Puget Sound is undergoing a transition from a small liberal arts college to a medium-sized university type campus. As a result, student and faculty thinking will have to take on a larger perspective, and consider realistically the problems which have resulted from this transition. They are:

1.—With the growth of the college, situations arise which are common to students, faculty, and administration. Such problems could best be solved by the formation of a student-faculty advisory council. This group would be primarily concerned with investigation and evaluation of all campus policies and procedures, but would not have legislative powers.

2.—The second problem concerns expansion of student activities to give all students more for their money. Leadership is one of the primary goals to be attained in college, but unless we broaden our program of student activities to include more people, many students will fail to receive this opportunity.

3.—My third issue is the need to start working immediately on the policies which will govern student activities in the new student center. Activities for all students should be planned around the Student Center, so this is one area where student body funds can be spent to benefit everyone.

4.—My fourth proposal concerns the urgent need for a full time faculty advisor for the Trail and Tamanawas.

Admittedly there are other problems facing us today, but there are the important ones which demand immediate attention and which will be carried out if I am elected your new student body President.

High School Debate Tourney Hits CPS

The 26th annual statewide high school forensic tournament will be held at CPS, March 12, 13, and 14. This is the largest forensic tournament of its type held in the United States. Last year 72 high schools brought 1,200 students to the tournament. This year as many as 1,500 students are expected.

The high school tournament is run entirely by CPS students with Winnie Hertzog, debate manager, as tournament director. In charge of housing is Elaine Klein; matching, Betty Delo; judges, Marcia Olsbach; oratory, Chuck Comeau; extemporaneous, John Sherwood; registration, Dick Fritts; ballots, Karen Hansen, and Elaine Purdue; recording, John Phelps, and Paul Shaffer; and rooms, Mr. Hanson, CPS debate coach.

Friday night there will be a banquet with Jackie Carmichael in charge of entertainment. Following the banquet will be a dance in the women's gym sponsored by Panhellenic and IFC.

During the tournament the Washington state high school debate coaches will hold their annual meeting.

The high school debate question this year is resolved: That our education system be substantially modified.

Heads Asked To Send News

Publicity chairmen of all organizations are urged to keep the Publicity Office of the college notified of events concerning their respective organizations.

There are many events happening in various organizations that would make good newspaper publicity, but it is difficult to keep posted on such affairs without having direct word from the organization.

News can be handed in at the Publicity Office on the second floor of the SUB or put in Box 32. Be sure to include the name of the correspondent.

The Publicity Office now has a camera of its own and will be glad to take pictures which can be used for newspaper publicity. It is necessary to make appointments for pictures.

If there is no immediate news, the publicity chairmen should turn in on a card the same of the organization they represent with their name, address and telephone number.

Veterans Club Holds Meeting

The College Veterans' Club held their regular bi-monthly meeting Thursday, March 5, at CPS South Hall. Several new members were admitted and Past Club President Glen Galbreath spoke. A program of more activity, entertainment and benefits was planned. An annual club project for the betterment of the college is under consideration.

An evening on-campus social meeting for the entertainment and enlightenment of the members is scheduled for 8 p.m., Wednesday, March 18. The program committee guarantees a very enjoyable meeting, and all ex-servicemen at the college are invited. The place to be announced.

The College Veterans' Club spring semi-formal dance held at Tacoma Athletic Club Banquet Room Feb. 28, was deemed a big success by those in attendance. Dancing was to Corky Corkorin's music, a buffet lunch and refreshments were served. The guests of honor were Col. and Mrs. B. C. Andrus and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Henry.

Indee Items

By MARILYN SALT

Co-chairmen, Janice Filer and George Quigley, and chairmen, Sally Caldwell, favors; Marilyn Salt, publicity; and Warren McNeely, entertainment—are busily preparing for the annual Independent Dinner Dance scheduled this Friday, the 13th of March. Other chairmen are: Ellen Yocom, refreshments; Hazel Hall, invitations; and Liana Dightman, programs.

1959's theme is Whispering Shamrocks and it will be held in the Crystal Ballroom located in the Hotel Winthrop. The cost for those attending both the dinner and dance will be $6.75; $1.75 is the cost for the dance only.

All ISA's, independent students and their dates will be greeted for the dinner at 7:30 p.m. Those people who wish to attend only the dance will be welcome from 9:00 until 12:00 p.m.

Since this occasion is a formal dinner dance the mode of dress will be formal. If there are any questions concerning the dance or the dinner just ask any of the chairmen.

GREEK ROW

By SHARON MASON

Alpha Phi has initiated the following: Rena Bott, Donna Burnett, Elleyne Brown, Liz Gourlay, Anne Keith, Eleanor Martin, Jackie Munroe, Julie Peck, Elaine Perdue, and Carol Whyllie.

On Monday, the following officers were installed: President, Barb Keevil; First Vice President, Lorna Royall; Second Vice President, Gean Rosenbarger; Recording Secretary, Terry McGowan; Treasurer, Mary Hartle; Assistant Treasurer, Kathy Paine; Corresponding Secretary, Anne Keith; Chaplain, JoAnn Sartz; Marshall, Darlene Townsend; Guard, Gretchen Scheyer; Historian, Eleanor Martin; Song Leader, Liz Gourlay; Publicity and Quarterly Correspondent, Elaine Perdue.

Chi Omega has initiated the following: Judy Adams, Janet Blackshaw, Claudia Carr, Nancy Dow, Karen Hansen, Holly Hess, Arlene Peterson, JoAnne Peterson, Anne Ramsey, Darlene Rowland, Pat Sears, Rochelle Shimitz, Karen Walker, Sandra Wickenhagen, and Linda Wirsing. Last Sunday, the Chi Omegas attended the Pilgrim Congregational Church, and also on Sunday, a tea was held in Tenzler Hall honoring the new members and their parents. Last Monday, Chi Omega, Arlene Peterson announced her pinning to Pete Morton, who attended Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, N. Y.

Instead of choosing only one girl to represent them as their Sweetheart, the SAE's are following the trend set forth by other chapters of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. They have selected 10 women, who have proved themselves both scholastically and socially to represent them and to be the charter members of the Sisters of Minerva. The Sisters of Minerva will be an independent organization connected with the fraternity. The charter members are: Alpha Phi, Carol Whyllie, Terry McGowan, Gail Keplar, Adelle Lucchesi; Chi Omega, Enid Leibinger, Marilyn Dow, Sandy Garberg; Tri Delta, Sylvia Funk, Sharon Mason; Pi Beta Phi, Jean Dix.

The Kappa Sigma black and white formal was held at Lake Wilderness on Feb. 28, and Kris Havel was crowned Kappa Sigma Stardust Queen.

New Sigma Chi pledges are Lewis Lee, Tim Peterson, John Pokela, and Dick Wall. Recently initiated into Sigma Chi were Jim Beecher, Warren Hanson, Warren Good, John Mason, Clark Montgomery, Paul Perdue, Mark Smith and Kurt Thompson.

CPS's Sigma Chi chapter attended the Sigma Chi Province Convention held this year at the University of Washington campus on Feb. 27-28. They were voted the most outstanding chapter in the Northwest.

Last Monday the Sigma Nus announced their White Rose candidates and they are Pi Phi, Betty Strobel; Chi Omega, Nancy Dow; Tri Delta, Glenda Watson; Alpha Phi, Donnavie Perkins, and Independent, Maija Ievins.

Editor, Trail:

On behalf of myself and the swimming team, we would like to thank the Athletic department, the Trail, and the CPS students for their support during the past swimming season. We appreciate this backing in our efforts to build swimming as a competitive and spectator sport.

Our thanks especially to those students who volunteered their help in officiating at our dual meets, and to those who "joined" the team to swim for us in the conference meet. — DON DUNCAN, Swimming Coach.

"Green Pastures" Play Presented by Choral Readers

"Green Pastures," one of the most famous plays ever viewed on the Broadway stage, was presented last Friday evening and again Sunday afternoon by the College of Puget Sound Choral Readers under the direction of Martha Pearl "Teach" Jones.

The author, Marc Connelly, translates in "Green Pastures" the reverent faith of the Southern Negro into a play. The drama is an imaginative picture of Biblical history whose theme is God's tender and endless patience with mankind. The story begins just before the Creation, in a Heaven where God and His angels soon look with dismay upon man's seeming degeneration on earth.

From the Garden of Eden to the coming of the Redeemer, God's utter goodness, patience and compassion through His moments of discouragement. God is grieved by the sins of Cain, of His people in Egypt and Babylon, and by other distressingly modern transgressions. Yet He is un-

"To Believe Is to Act" RE Theme

"To Believe is to Hope; To Believe is to Love; To Believe is to Act." The third of these themes that have guided the three programs of Religious Emphasis on the campus this year will be developed in the three days in March, set aside for such a program.

Two campus guests will help in the leadership of the special convocations and informal discussion groups. Professor Richard Stark will speak at both the Tuesday and Thursday Convocations on the subject, "Three Friends." Mr. Stark is a graduate of Colorado State College of Education and a graduate with honors of the Yale School of Music. He served with the United States Air Force for three years during World War II. For three years he has directed one of the nation's largest Negro choirs, the Fisk University Choir of Nashville, Tenn. An accomplished pianist and dedicated churchman, Professor Stark will conduct informal sessions entitled "Improvisations at the Keyboard" during which he will both speak and play the piano. "Some Notes on the Spiritual," and "Music for Fun" will be the themes of these evening sessions.

The other visitor, arriving on Thursday at the conclusion of the Religious Emphasis, will be Mr. David Williams, of the Student Volunteer Movement. Mr. Williams graduated from Iowa State College in Ames and served as a three-year agricultural missionary in the Philippines. He will be interviewing students and talking to small groups about summer work projects, short term missionary opportunities, and life service in church careers.

Co-chairmen John Pokela, William Parker and Marilyn Hutchison are assisted by more than a score of committee chairmen and members in the presentation of "To Believe is to Act," which will be held March 16-19.

able to resist the simple reverent faith of Noah, Moses and others whose lives convince Him that the best in man has made the Creation worth while.

Connelly's play enjoyed the enviable distinction of universal approval by critics and churchmen alike. New York audiences gave it one of the longest runs ever seen on the Broadway stage.

Gary Zimmerman interpreted the role of "de Lawd" in the Choral Readers' production; John Mitchell played Moses and Ric Franzen portrayed Noah. Larry Heggerness was the Angel Gabriel. Mrs. Noah was portrayed by Velma Ledes, the Pharaoh by Frank Ochs, Hezrel by Larry Roshau, Beba by Carol Williams and Cain by Gene Spargo.

Gary Mansfield played the King of Babylon, and Dan Buchanan played Mr. Deshee, the preacher. Others in the group were Beverly Melander, Jerry Smith, Jean Rosenbarger, Don Heatt, Gary Larsen, Inge Schweizer, Kathie Vlahovich, Sharleen Kirkpatrick, Marie Gustafson, Sarah Peck, Margaret Langley, Carolyn Fletcher, Elaine French, Marcia Smith, Marlene Buck, Jack Anderson and Paul Perdue. Georgia Dee Martin is the student leader of the Choral Readers; Dr. Wilbur Baisinger is the technical director.

The Choral Readers have performed a variety of programs every year since Miss Jones founded the group in 1940. It is the only such organization west of the Mississippi river which has an unbroken record of annual performances for 19 years.

RANDY SMITH

ASCPS PRESIDENT

The LUCKY LOGGER

By DOUG PERKINS

CPS should be very proud of the 1959 swimming squad. Coach Duncan's swimmers copped eight first places in the Evergreen Conference meet last week-end before falling to UBC. The Thunderbirds, winning only two first places, outmanned the Loggers by entering more swimmers in the preliminaries; thus the Birds were able to capture more starting blocks in the finals. This was partly due to the poor showing of the other conference schools.

One of the big reasons for the successful season at the CPS pool has been the fine swimming and inspiration of Kimo Streeter. During the 100 meter butterfly race last Saturday, the hustling Logger mermen, trailing by almost one-half length, sprinted past the taller rival in the final 10 meters to capture first place. Streeter was not expected to win the race. When his team mates are swimming in a meet, Kimo seems to be at both ends of the pool at the same time, cheering them on. This is a typical example of his season-long inspiration to the CPS swimming team.

Earl Ellis and Kimo Streeter will represent CPS at the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics meet March 19-20 at Ball State Teacher's College in Muncie, Indiana. It will be the first time CPS has entered the NAIA meet. Good Luck.

Spring is here. Attention all prospective varsity tennis players. Coach Chaldecott announces that there will be an important pre-season meeting of the Varsity Tennis Team in room 209 in Jones Hall on Wednesday, March 11, at 4:00 p. m. All persons interested in turning out are invited to attend.

Where are the two new tennis courts?

All trackmen are requested to report to the fieldhouse to receive information on the coming track season. Turnouts will be arranged.

The Cle Elum Warriors, displaying a multiple offense, completely baffled the taller Bulldogs from the Okanogan territory to capture the second annual class A High School tournament at Tacoma 50-40.

The Fieldhouse was not a new sight for five of the tournament coaches. Mert Waller of Oak Harbor, Ed Annas of Sumner, Bob Tincham of Bethell, Russ Wilkerson of Goldendale, and Jake Maberry of Lynden all played basketball for Coach Heinrich.

Incidentally, Lynden's coach, Jake Maberry, an ex-Logger hoop great, has crossed Enumclaw off the state map. For the past two class A classics, Lynden has drawn Enumclaw in the first round and both times the Lions lost. Lynden went on to capture fifth place for the second year in a row.

Jim Caviezel of Sumner, Dave Klarich of Cle Elum, Dennis Broweleit of Colfax, easy going Dale Easley of Okanogan and Fred McClaskey of Goldendale were voted to the 1959 class A state first five.

McClaskey's best sport is baseball and he has several pro-baseball offers to prove it. The Yakima Valley southpaw fireballer used the same left arm to score a record 41 points against Ephrata. This breaks the old record of 37 points established by big Bill Hanson during last year's classic.

The Class AA tournament will start Wednesday at the Hec Edmundson Pavilion on the University of Washington campus. Lincoln and Ballard of Seattle, Renton, Franklin Pierce, Lake Washington, Stadium of Tacoma, Lewis and Clark of Spokane, Richland, West Bremerton, Kelso, Burlington, and Snohomish have already won berths in the tournament.

Phi Delts Capture Ski Title

Phi Delta Theta took the top honors in the intramural skiing competition held last week.

The Phi Delt combo of Farr, Wills and Shaw finished with a total elapsed time of 474.2.

Sigma Chi took second place, the team of Baker, Scheyer, and Luken finishing in 480.2.

Dunbar, Malin, and Powers brought Todd Hall to a close fourth place finishing behind Kappa Sigma. Todd Hall's time was 573.8. Driskell, Sheean, and Bidleman had the elapsed time of 573.1 for Kappa Sigma.

Sigma Nu was fifth, the team of Wilcox, Ross and Waterman finishing in 575.2.

Farr of Phi Delta Theta had the best individual time of 57.3.

Baker of Sigma Chi had the next best time with 58.1. Gill of Sigma Chi was third with 60.8. Driskell of Kappa Sigma was fourth with 61.0. Shaw of Phi Delta Theta was fifth with 62.1.

Mermen Take Eight Events, But Lose Meet to UBC

The Loggers won everything except the championship at the annual Evergreen conference swimming meet held at the CPS pool Friday and Saturday. The University of British Columbia successfully defended its conference title by scoring 134 points to 117 for CPS, 45 for Western, and 44 for Eastern.

In a meet seemingly overrun by hordes of UBC swimmers, CPS won eight first places to only two for the Thunderbirds, three for Eastern, and one for Western. Double winners for CPS were Ron Jones in the 200 and 400 freestyle, Earl Ellis in the 100 and 200 backstroke, and Kimo Streeter in the 100 and 200 butterfly. Jerry Hartley won the 100 meter breaststroke, and the 400 freestyle relay team of Phil Oke, Bob Harris, Jack Falskow, and Earl Ellis won over a good UBC relay.

The Loggers sorely missed several swimmers who were left by the wayside following the semester exams, and who undoubtedly would have been the difference in the outcome. The CPS swimmers may have been outnumbered, but not outfought. Most of the times were the best of the year, even though much of the team showed the strain of a long season.

In winning its eighth championship in 10 years, UBC's most successful conference team bowed out of Evergreen conference competition. Beginning next year the Thunderbirds will compete in a newly formed western Canadian league.

In their second year of competition, the Loggers can find satisfaction in the fact that they have broken UBC's dominance in the dual meet season, having defeated the Thunderbirds twice this year and finishing the regular schedule with 6 wins and no losses.

Competing for the last time for CPS, were Bob Harris, Jack Falskow and Earl Ellis.

Chevy stops quickest... goes farthest on a gallon!

Chevy showed the best brakes of the leading low-priced three in a test of repeated stops at highway speeds conducted and certified by NASCAR*. Chevy also won over the other two in a NASCAR economy run—with the highest gas mileage for 6's and V8's at cruising speeds of just over 55 miles an hour.

Here's a car that knows how to get the most out of a gallon. And it's the only car in its field to bring you hydraulic valve lifters in all popular engines—6 and V8. This means smoother, quieter performance for you.

There are many other advances just as fundamental as the efficiency of Chevrolet's engines and the depend-

TOM BEARDEMPHL

1st Vice President

As I see it, the office of First Vice President exists primarily to back the Student Body President and give strength to his policies.

I do not propose to institute sweeping reforms of established policies. I do propose to work within the existing scheme and chip away at some of the little white gods (i.e. Tudor Gothic architecture) set up over the years on this campus. If CPS is to grow rapidly in the near future, as prophesied, then the school's policies must be modified.

I will assist the Student Body President in working for new ideas which will permit our thinking to keep pace with our physical growth.

I wish to take this opportunity to request that you, the voters, give me the chance to bring to this office, an open mind, a sense of humor, and a sincere desire to speak for the individual who is so often in the minority but who wants to be heard.

HOWIE EASTMAN

1st Vice President

There is an old mathematical axiom which states, "The whole is equal to no more than the sum of its parts." In our case, students of different ages, interests, environments, backgrounds, and social affiliations are the "parts" which comprise the "whole" that is our student body. However, there has never been a mathematical formula derived which applies exactly and unerringly to human beings, or more specifically, to students. Thus it is that I contend that the whole of our student body can be equal to far more than the sum of its parts. Furthermore, as the whole strengthens, so will the component parts become stronger.

The way in which this growth can be accomplished is by merging, rather than merely adding the parts. This is a difficult task, because it involves compromise, openmindedness, ability to work with people, and many times subordinating one's personal views to those of others. The key factors of any merging are leaders possessing as nearly as possible these qualities, leaders who will look for solutions to problems with the good of the whole in mind. They must look beyond the relatively small situation in which they are dealing at present to the effect that their actions will have on the end results, the quality of the student body.

PETER RIPPE

1st Vice President

Central Board, I believe, has as its main task the representation of the students to the college and the college to the students.

Therefore it is essential that this group represent the greatest number of students that is possibly can. The voting members of Central Board must not be a stereotyped group, representing only one or two powerful interest groups.

As a candidate for First Vice President I promise that if I am elected I will attempt to represent all phases of student life and interests, maintaining individuality within the group.

The position of First Vice President is not exactly one where the candidate can express specific promises, since specific promises seem to be the basis of the presidential candidates' campaigns. The prospective First Vice President is left, it would seem, in the awkward situation of having to supporter the elected President, even though he has no idea who will finally win that office. It is for this reason that I offer to you, the voters, a program of general representation, willing, as I am, to take even the most radical student ideas into the confines of Central Board for the consideration of that body. With such a policy, along with a desire to co-operate in the final decision, I hope to have a greater majority of the students of CPS represented in their student government. This is the one promise that I can and do offer.

CHUCK COMEAU

2nd Vice President

The physical expansion of CPS will require an equal expansion in activities. This will not only stimulate interest, but coordinate a better relationship among the students.

The ASCPS is composed of many outstanding groups — unfortunately these fine groups have not always contributed to the student body as a whole. Rivalry has displaced friendship — rather than creating a solid foundation of good fellowship. I feel that more all-campus activities is an excellent example of a means of friendly unification.

In all good conscience we can only advance. We must know and understand our problems and discuss and realize their solutions. It is my intention to sincerely work toward such an understanding and a liberal, well-coordinated activities program.

FRED DEAL

2nd Vice President

As this issue of the Trail reaches the student body, the campaign posters are down and each student must choose the candidates he wishes to place on Central Board.

The voting booths are the voices of government on our campus and each student should feel it his duty to vote in this election.

I am in the race for 2nd Vice President because I believe that a non-partisan chairman is important to head the Student Affairs Committee and, more specifically, to set up the social calendar for the Associated Students. One cannot run for an office without some ideas to follow, but I do not pretend to have the ready-made solutions to such problems as our lack of school spirit or participation. If I am elected to this office, I shall attempt to work on these problems but it seems that too few students participate in the activities, but that these same students are in all of the functions of the ASCPS.

Our college has a very full social calendar and I would attempt to continue the schedules of events much the same as it has been handled this year. Added events will only put a burden on the few students who have full academic loads to carry in addition to their participation in various organizations. The answers to participation problems and the allocation of funds for the operation of the various departments come from experience. This year on Central Board, as Sophomore Class President, has given me a working knowledge of these problems. As a class, the Sophomores have not had many functions, but those that have been scheduled have been successful and are worthy of notation in the history of our class.

I now wish to help schedule the functions of the Associated Students and to participate in the Student Affairs Committee. I ask you to vote for a good deal for your 2nd Vice President.

KEN MCGILL

2nd Vice President

1.—What kind of job will I do if elected 2nd Vice President?

2.—Why am I running?

3.—Am I qualified?

1. The 2nd Vice President's main job is his position as chairman of Student Affairs Committee. The integration and scheduling of the varied student, faculty, and alumni activities requires all-year planning to avoid conflicts, and in its planning SAC should try to balance the extra-curricular load on students.

The main difficulties this year seem to be lack of knowledge about SAC procedures. If elected, I will:

(a) Prepare a sheet explaining procedures for social chairmen.

(b) Meet early with all the social chairmen of various campus organizations to schedule events and plan working details for the coming year.

(c) Maintain a conspicuous calendar of the year's activities.

(d) Be as impartial and consistent as possible, and make public the opinions of SAC.

As a member of finance committee and Central Board, my main concern would be to give students their money's worth for their student body fees.

2. As I have observed school activities and participated in them, I have become interested in student government and aware of the value of leadership positions. The service aspect of Knights appealed to me, and I believe I could serve the ASCPS if elected 2nd Vice President.

3. Having been a town student, dorm student, non-affiliated student, then member of a social group; rooter in the stands, and then yell leader, I believe I have the needed general understanding of the desires of the varying groups on campus. I have maintained sufficient grades when working, and am sure I have time for the vice presidency. You heard some of my activities read in convocation.

Dr. Macdonald, Noted Volcanologist, Will Visit

Dr. Gordon A. Macdonald, well-known volcanologist and professor of geology and geophysics at the University of Hawaii will be on the CPS campus March 13 and 14.

Dr. Macdonald will be here under the sponsorship of the American Geological Institute which is backing a program of visiting geoscientists for colleges under a grant from the National Science Foundation.

A public lecture will be held Friday, March 13 at 8:15 p.m. in Jones Hall auditorium. At this time a 1,200-foot film of the 1955 eruption of Kilauea will be shown. Science teachers and students of any age level interested in science are invited to attend. The visiting geoscientist program is being held to awaken the interest of promising students in the "geo" sciences and in the career opportunities provided in these areas.

It is also to improve instruction in these fields and to stimulate the understanding of the layman on these subjects.

Professor Norman R. Anderson, geology professor at CPS urges all who can to take the opportunity of hearing an expert in the field of volcanology.

Dr. Macdonald's visit fortunately coincides with a Geology Workshop to be held March 14 on the campus. He will show films of the volcanic eruption at the workshop along with slides illustrating the geology of the Hawaiian Islands and volcanoes in general.

Dr. Macdonald received his A. B. and his M. A. degrees at UCLA and his Ph. D. at the University of California in Berkeley.

In 1938 and 1939 he was assistant geologist with the Shell Oil Co. From 1939 to 1947 he worked for the U. S. Geological Survey. He was assistant professor of geology for USC in 1947-48. Following this professorship he was employed for three years at the Hawaiian Volcano Observatory. In 1951 he took over the chairmanship of the observatory and remained there until 1956. During this time he spent about a year in the Philippines studying volcanology. In 1956 he was employed for three years as a field worker with the U. S. Geological Survey in northern California.

He remained there until the fall of 1958 when he became the senior professor of geology and geophysics at the University of Hawaii and volcanologist at the Hawaii Institute of Geophysics.
